there is a question, was a question in my mind as to whether this building was really needed or was ever going to be built and the information I have able to gather since then, there is no question, the building will have to be built. The only question remaining is what day or what year. Now, my concern is that we increase the amount that it is going to cost next year or the year after because construction costs are going up. So I reluctantly move to reconsider this because, as I say, there is no question as to whether the building will be built. It is only whether we pay the price this year or next year and this is considerably different than some of the other issues here today. The issues there, in many cases, were whether the thing should or should not be done. This is different. This is going to be done and we are going to have to pay for it. Let's pay the lower price.

PRESIDENT: Senator Burbach.

SENATOR BURBACH: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, we have discussed this once prior. We are asking now for reconsideration. And I would like to call for the question.

PRESIDENT: All right. Five seconds. I see it. The question is, shall debate now cease? Record your vote. Have you voted? Have you voted on the matter to cease debate on this reconsideration? Record.

CLERK: 26 ayes, 12 nays.

PRESIDENT: All right. Debate ceases. The question is, shall this body reconsider its action in its failure to override the veto of LB 1007? Record your vote. Have you voted? Please vote. Have you all voted? Record. 25 to reconsider?

CLERK: 25 ayes, 16 nays.

PRESIDENT: All right. This House shall reconsider its action. Sir. Senator Warner.

SENATOR WARNER: I don't want to argue. I just wanted time to look to make sure you were correct. A bill that lacked its constitutional majority on Final Reading, I assume an override is different. No objection.

CLERK: Here it is. Goodrich, Senator Goodrich moved the original motion.

PRESIDENT: All right. Read the motion.

CLERK: The original motion was, I move that LB 1007 become law notwithstanding the objection of the Governor.

PRESIDENT: All right. That is the proposition. Record your...yes, Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. Chairman, on this reconciliation
